Quarter 2 – Module 2: Generating Ideas Through Pre-Writing Activities

Introductory Message

This Self-Learning Module (SLM) is prepared so that you, our dear learners, can continue your studies and learn while at home. Activities, questions, directions, exercises, and discussions are carefully stated for you to understand each lesson.

Each SLM is composed of different parts. Each part shall guide you step-by-step as you discover and understand the lesson prepared for you.

Pre-tests are provided to measure your prior knowledge on lessons in each SLM. This will tell you if you need to proceed on completing this module or if you need to ask your facilitator or your teacher's assistance for better understanding of the lesson. At the end of each module, you need to answer the post-test to self-check your learning. Answer keys are provided for each activity and test. We trust that you will be honest in using these.

In addition to the material in the main text, Notes to the Teacher are also provided to our facilitators and parents for strategies and reminders on how they can best help you on your home-based learning.

Please use this module with care. Do not put unnecessary marks on any part of this SLM. Use a separate sheet of paper in answering the exercises and tests. And read the instructions carefully before performing each task.

If you have any questions in using this SLM or any difficulty in answering the tasks in this module, do not hesitate to consult your teacher or facilitator.

Thank you.

What is It

To generate ideas, you can use the following strategies.

First, webbing is a visual representation of your ideas about the writing topic by using shapes and lines. This prewriting activity helps you illustrate the relationship between the objects or ideas, and how these pieces of information relate to one another. You can connect ideas based on their classifications, common characteristics, purpose, and other logical ways of grouping ideas.

Second, brainstorming is another prewriting activity done by coming up with different ideas to provide solution to a problem or to have a better understanding of the situation. This helps you to think freely and improve your skills in dealing with real-life problems.

Lastly, drawing is a prewriting activity that helps you show your understanding through images or pictures. Drawing represents ideas and portrays stories. This activity promotes imagination and creativity.

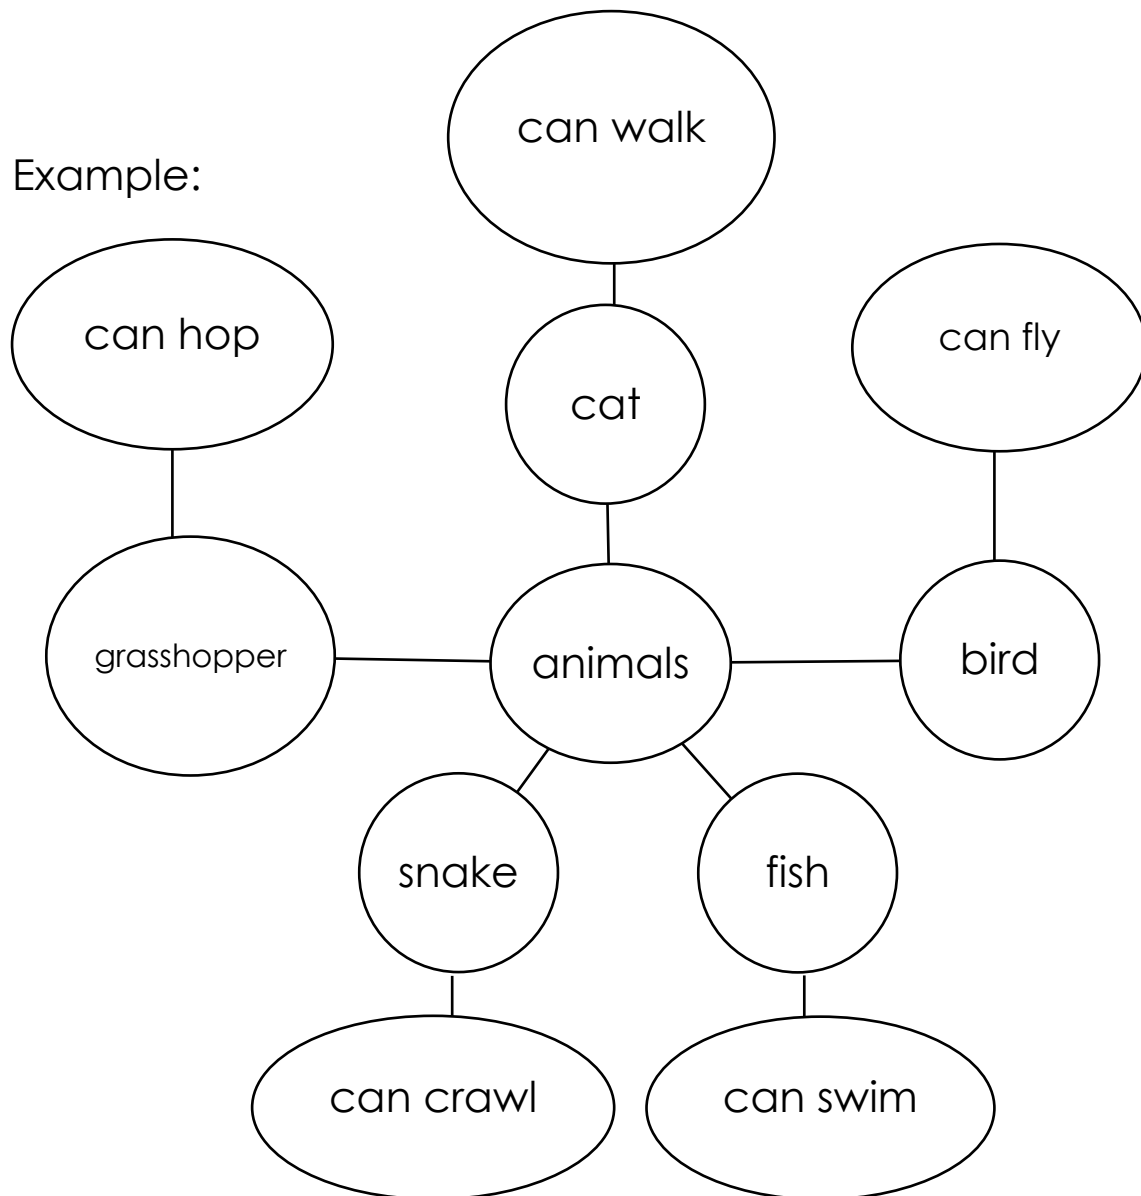

This is how to do webbing:

Step 1: Draw a circle in the middle and write the subject or the main topic.

Step 2: Draw lines radiating out from the circle that has the main topic and draw circles at the end of each line. Each line corresponds to a supporting idea.

Step 3: Draw additional lines and circles to extend the discussion of your supporting ideas.

Example:

The main idea or topic of the web is about animals. The circles around the main idea are the examples of different animals. Around the examples are circles that describe the abilities of the animals.

Another pre-writing strategy is brainstorming that can be done by:

Step 1: Reading and understanding the problem.

Step 2: Listing down possible solutions to the problem.

Step 3: Thinking about the best solution or idea.

Step 4: Using the solution to solve the problem or to take an action.

Example:

Problem: You have just finished answering the module your teacher asked you to accomplish. However, your sister accidentally tore it in half. How will you deal with the problem? Will your teacher accept it? But you need to fix the module using any of the following solutions:

Possible solutions:

1. Use a glue to fix the module.
2. Use a tape instead to fix the module.

Now, you have two possible solutions. Which one will be more effective in fixing the problem? If you think of it, you can clearly say that putting a tape in the module is more efficient than using a glue.

You can further explore the problem and think of other solutions like by explaining to the teacher about the incident and requesting to consider your work or provide you a new copy if possible.

This is how to do drawing as a pre-writing activity:

- Step 1: Understand the topic or the writing task.
- Step 2: Observe the environment and use your experience to portray your ideas in drawing.
- Step 3: Draw an image or an object that represents your understanding about the topic.
- Step 3: Broaden your idea about the drawing through writing.

Example:      Topic: Write about your favorite food.

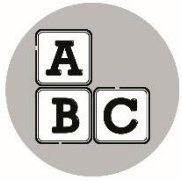

This my favorite fruit. It is an apple, and it usually tastes sweet. Fruits like apples help us to stay healthy.

You have learned about ways on how you can generate ideas by using the following pre-writing activities:

1. Webbing
2. Brainstorming
3. Drawing

You can now use and combine all these strategies to generate ideas more effectively.

Alvin and His Kite

Alvin always dreamt about having a kite. He loves to play a kite after seeing his friends play with it in the farm. He was amazed at how a thing like it can float in the air even with no wings.

One day, his father made him a kite. Alvin was so happy that day because he can now play with his new kite. He immediately went to the farm where his friends used to play with their kites. He tried flying his kite, but it failed to go up into the air. He also tries fixing some of its parts but did not fly still. He tried it again and again, but it did not work. This made him feel sad. Then, his friends saw him and asked Alvin if they can join him. Since Alvin isn't good at flying a kite, his friends taught him how to do it. By simply following the wind's direction, he let his kite go with it, until the kite finally flew up high in the air

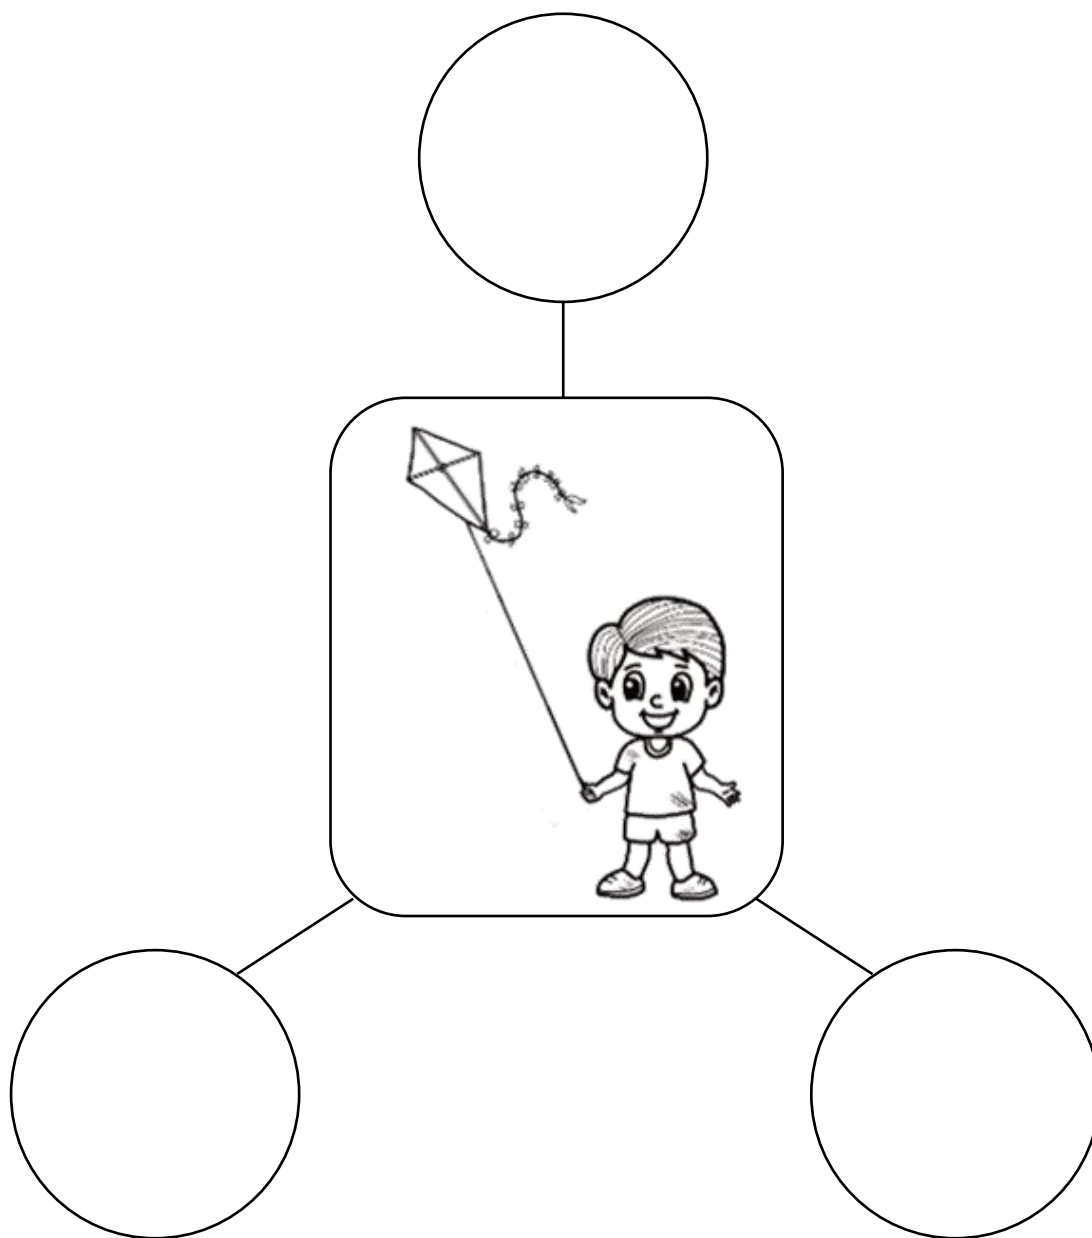

Draw your favorite scene in the box and answer the questions below.

Answer the following:

1. What does Alvin want to do?
2. Who gave him his first kite?
3. Was he able to fly his kite? What specific solutions or activities did he do so he could make his kite fly?

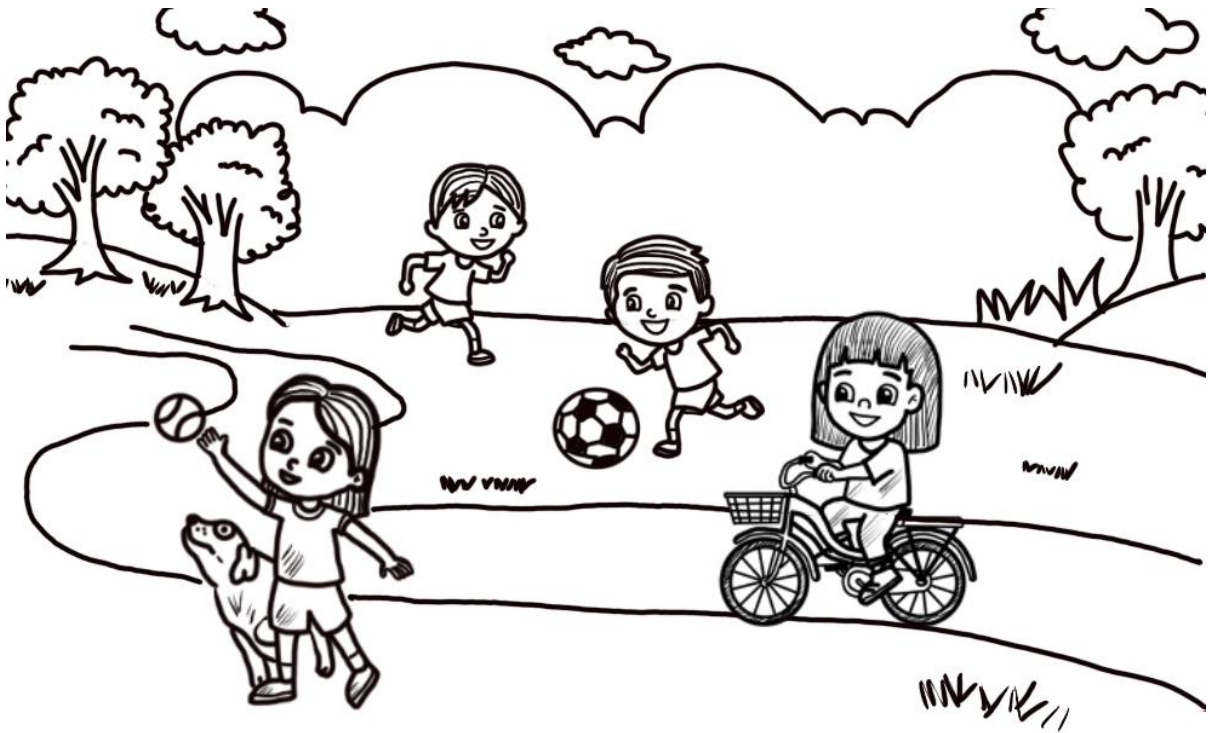

Answer this by supplying the circles with the correct ideas/ information.
